
JENNIFER SHOOK

Jennifer Shook is a nonprofit tax attorney specializing in issues affecting exempt organizations. She applies her high energy and attention to detail on matters related to federal and state tax compliance, complex transactions, and everything in-between. She is particularly interested in the area of venture philanthropy, which pairs her background work with emerging companies and her desire to work with nonprofit social enterprises. Jennifer also works with the firm's clients with healthcare-related missions.

Experience

Jennifer regularly works with clients in the following areas:

- Nonprofit formation and governance
- Applications for section 501(c)(3) status
- Reorganization and restructuring
- Private foundation tax compliance
- Development and implementation of scholarship programs
- Political activity, lobbying and advocacy
- Corporate operational issues
- Exit strategy planning

Earlier in her career, Jennifer was a tax associate with Cooley Godward and Holme Roberts & Owen. Jennifer is a member of the Forum of Women Entrepreneurs and a founding member of the nonprofit Wellstone Action! that focuses on the training and development of candidates for public office.

In her free time, she enjoys being politically active in progressive causes, trail running, learning to rock climb and spending time with her husband and three children.
